Pre Quarter Finals Session 3: Texan Aces vs. Hemant Jalan

After two sessions of the Quarter Finals, Texan Aces were leading Hemant Jalan by 19 IMPs: 65-46 was the IMP score. In the first seven deals, Hemant Jalan pulled back 18 IMPs while Texan Aces could add only one. Thus, at the end of 35 boards, the score stood 66-64. That is when the match caught our attention.

Hemant Jalan team got a 7-IMP swing on Board 7 when Texan Aces East-West missed a game because of a misunderstanding. Then on Board 7, they got a further 10 IMPs on a Vulnerable Game swing. In both the rooms, South opened 1NT and North transferred to Hearts.

In one room, Anil Padhye rebid 3♥ as South. West doubled and Manna simply bid 4♠. There were 11 easy tricks in that game.

In the other room, Kaustubh Bendre, sitting South merely bid 2♥. This contrasting choice is quite striking as Anil Padhye and Kaustubh Bendre often play together, mostly as partners, in local games in Pune where both of them live.

West doubled here, too. East took out to 2♠, Kaustubh competed further with 3♥, West bid 3♠, but East opted to pass.

The dynamics of this auction is fascinating. What strength should West have for his double in each of these cases? Should Sandip Datta's double of 3♥ in the other room be assumed to have more strength than Vijay's double of 2♥ here? How does one account for West's first pass in that case? It seems to us that this single issue dissuaded Arvind from bidding this vulnerable game. It certainly is a good deal to study for those who like to design good bidding schemes.

The distribution of contracts played on the 16 tables in the GOLD category further proves this point. Only four East-Wests bid the Spade game; four settled in 3♠; five allowed North-South to play in 3♥; and on rest of the tables the contract were below three level. Perhaps, this suggests that the defensive methods over 1NT aren't quite giving satisfactory service to many pairs.

Here, too, Anil Padhye bid boldly putting pressure on opponents. West opened a weak two, East forced with 2Nt, and Anil Padhye simply bid 4♥ all by himself. When that was passed around to East, East bid 4♠. Venkatesh led a Heart and the contract was down one pronto.

Should East have doubled 4♥? How does East evaluate the possibility of making a 4♠ game? What did West's Pass tell him? What would have been the meaning of West's double. These are the kind of questions a regular partnership must ask themselves, and address in developing their bidding understanding.

In the other room, West passed, so did North, and East got to open 1Nt. This was the auction.

The match continued to be a tight one till halfway in the fourth session. In the last few deals, TEXAN ACES added a couple of dozens of IMPs to win the contest by 127 to 103 IMPs.

Boje Brogeland on Bridge

Tell us about WBT (World Bridge Tour)

Boje : Thomas Charlsen and I were friends right from 1993 when we played for the Norway Juniors' team. Charlsen came up with an idea of playing Bridge with and against people one trusts, whether online or face to face, in order to minimise the chance of cheating. We started online and switched to live events. At the moment, our focus is to develop an app that captures our ideas of fair play and adequate opportunity for expression of Bridge skills.

Question: What are the objectives of WBT?

Boje: To make Bridge more visible. Chess has become a big attraction in Norway thanks to the exploits of Magnus Carlsen. Our objective is to push Bridge in that direction.

Question: How many WBT events have you organised thus far? What is the eligibility for participation in WBT?

Boje: There have been about six to 10 WBT events thus far. We wish to encourage participation of people we can trust. Normally, we have about 16 teams in a WBT event. We are not restricting participation to top calibre players alone.

Question: During the heydays of OKBridge it was possible to login and quickly get a good game. The rudimentary rating system did work well to get good players together. Is there any similar facility available now?

Boje: Such a facility is desirable; however, our focus is on getting robots to play good bridge. We are upgrading the Sharkbridge platform. John Norris is working on that, and we believe we have much better robots than those available on common platforms. We intend to continue to participate in the upcoming Computer Bridge Championships.

Question: How much Bridge do you play online?

Boje: Not much. I don't get the same vibes from online Bridge. I prefer human interaction.

On Money in Bridge

Question: Have you played money bridge at BBO?,

Boje: No

Question: Are there enough opportunities in Bridge for making money? Can Bridge come up somewhere near poker in that respect?

Boje: It is hard to make money, to make a living as a Bridge professional except in the USA, and perhaps in China. Online Bridge could offer some opportunities once the issue of ethics is adequately addressed.

On Bridge Scoring

Question: Is Bridge scoring too complicated?

Boje: I like the Board-a-Match type of scoring. To increase the visibility of Bridge, it would be desirable to have simple scoring.

Question: How about a faster or a timed game.

Boje: It would be good to have limited total time, but on individual moves, a player should be allowed to take their time.

On quality of commentary:

Boje: Good commentary is important, especially for taking the game to new followers. Unfortunately, there aren't enough rewards for commentators and experts. Hopefully, that will change. We also need to get more people from outside Bridge involved in Marketing the game and taking the game far and wide.

Question: Would you like more Team games, or Pairs, or Individuals?

Boje: I love team games. They are more enjoyable.

Question: You seem to have taken a liking to HCL International Bridge Tournament.

Boje: We met Subodh by chance in Switzerland and got talking about an exhibition event that was held along with HCL-2023. It was a great initiative. This year, my wife is here. She loves not only the HCL tournament, but also the Indian food and the environment.

I also love the competition and love the friendly atmosphere at the HCL-tournament. I was really happy to come here for a second year in row. My schedule is pretty tight with more than 120 days of travel every year. I still wanted to come here, and luckily, I was able to come.

This year, we are also looking at the games at HCL Bridge Championship as warm-up event for the upcoming World Championship in Buenos Aires. Two thirds of the Norway team is here with me for that.

Question: Your team doesn't have an NPC or a coach.

Boje: We had a coach for the European tournament that was a qualifying tournament event. The Federation is not supporting us for that kind of facility so we will just be a six-member team of players.

Question: Do you plan to be here for HCL-2025?

Boje: Certainly, I hope to make it in 2025, too.

Thank You for talking to us. Wish you all the best for a great tournament.

Pre-Quarter Finals, Session I, Board 4

Sixteen teams qualified to play the Knock-Out stages of both the GOLD and the SILVER categories of the Team of Four event. On the Vu graph, in one match, FORMIDABLES played against WBT Bridge App, a team that has four of the six members of the Norway Open Team; in the other Pro3max, a team from Russia faced Dhampur Sugar Mills.

In the FORMIDABLES-WBT Bridge App match, there was a string of small swings in the first half-a-dozen boards. Board four caught our attention for the sheer volatility it produced in the final contract spot. Let us look at the results in the VU graph rooms first.

In the FORMIDABLES-WBT Bridge App match, FORMIDABLES declared a Spade contract in both the room. Rajeshwar Tewari opened an off-shape 2Nt with 1444 and the ♠ Queen stiff. Sumit Mukherjee, with a 5332 hand and ♠ J9xxx, chose to transfer and North-South played in 3♠. A top Spade was perhaps the regulation lead, but Andersen began with the ♦9.

Tewari won and continued Diamonds. Andersen ruffed, cashed AK of Spades, and played another Spade. Andersen made two more tricks with two Aces. The 3♠ contract went down one for 100 to East-West.

In the other room, Bakke Opened 1♦ and doubled East's 1♠ overcall when the bidding came around to him after Pass-Pass.

Boje Brogeland led a small Diamond. Bakke cashed two top Diamonds and played a small Heart. Sagnik won the ♥A and exited with the ♥J. Bakke overtook Brogeland's Queen with ♥King and played ♥T. Sagnik ruffed that, cashed the ♣A, and exited with a Club. Sagnik got three more tricks with his ♠AK87. The contract went down 1 for 200 to North-South. Norway collected seven IMPs on the board.

Pre-Quarter Finals, Session I, Board 4 (Contd..)

Let us now move over to the other Vu graph match where the contract was the same - 1♠ doubled by East. There was a small difference in the auction. Alexei, sitting North for team Pro3max, opened 1♣, not 1♦ as Bakke did. Witness KR Venkataraman or Dadhy Venky in action now.

The Club lead made Venky's job easier giving him a free finesse against North's KQ of Clubs. He won North's ♣Q with the ♣A and played back a Club to Dummy's ♣Jack. North-South had to be careful now to keep communications open and tweak their tactics based on the line the Declarer took.

As the play went, Alexei won the ♣K and rushed to cash two top Diamonds. That burnt the North-South bridges making it a game between South and East. Alexei now shifted to the ♠Q, but that was too late.

Venky won the ♠Ace and played the ten of Clubs. Elena ruffed and played the ♠J pinning Dummy's Ten, hoping that North would have the Nine of Clubs. Alas, East had that card. Venky won the ♠J with the ♠King, drove out the ♠9 by playing the ♠8, and won four more tricks with in two Trumps, ♣Nine, and the ♥A. 1S doubled made was worth 160 for EW.

How should the defence have gone? Well, North should have simply played the ♠Q at trick 3. East could win and play the ♣T as before, and South could play the ♠J pinning the ♠T. The difference, however, is that when East plays ♠8 to drive away ♠9, South wins, gets to North hand with a Diamond and scores a Club ruff! This is a rare case of a hand wherein a massive hand with 20 High Card Points goes out of business early in the game! But that is Bridge for you. Never take anything for granted, not even with a 20-HCP monster.

Pre-Quarter Finals, Session I, Board 4 (Contd..)

In the other room, the bidding started in a similar fashion 1♣-1♠-P-P-Double. Feofanov redoubled. Ajay Khare passed. And Toprover passed, too, raising the stakes to make it a game contract. Raju Tolani decided against taking a gamble, but did so with a 2♠ bid that forced the bidding to three level. NS ended up in 3♦ as a result.

Feofanov led the ♠K and continued with a small Spade. The ♠J or a small Spade would have seen Tolani home, but he chose to play the ♠9. Suddenly, the West hand, holding just a lonely High Card Point, was brought into play. Tolani ruffed West's ♠T with the ♦Jack and played the ♣K. Feofanov was happy to win with the ♣Ace and push the ♠8 through South's ♠J, taking a sort of ruffing finesse in defence. Declarer played the ♠J and West ruffed. Eventually, the Declarer could make only 8 tricks. That was 100 to East-West but still a 2 IMP loss for the Pro3max team because of the success of the doubled 1♠ contract.
